1. Introduction

All employees, workers and contractors working at Kettering General Hospital employees are expected to have Trust identification and wear this whilst at work, so they are identifiable.

The badge is a one card solution covering the following areas: identification of the individual showing name of hospital, name, job title and directorate. Allows access rights to areas of the hospital where door access has been installed. Acts as a key for the barrier controls on staff car parks. All ID Badges will be worn with the photo and written descriptions facing forward where it can be seen and not obscured with stickers etc.

Any person who is found in work who appears to be unfamiliar with the hospital and is not wearing an identification badge should be challenged as to their presence or assistance should be sought to challenge that person as to the reasons they are in that particular location.

2. Purpose

Covers all staff, volunteers, visitors, contractors, bank and agency who work within Trust and have a requirement to access staffing areas of the building.

Security within the hospital environment is essential and, in an effort to maximise identification of staff for patients and visitors, it is a requirement that all members of staff are in possession of an identification badge which must be worn.

5. New Starters

Before a member of staff commences work at the hospital, they will be required to obtain an ID badge. Where the recipient is not accompanied by a current member of staff, the ID Badge Co-ordinator will check that the person is employed by the Trust through accessing ESR. If the person's name does not appear, then a badge will not be issued.

6. Member of staff holding more than one post

If a member of staff holds more than one post in the same Division/Directorate, the badge will cover both posts. If the person works in two Divisions/Directorates, they will receive an ID badge for the post with the greater number of hours or with the name of the most appropriate Division/Directorate. Only one badge will be issued.

If a person moves post within the same Division/Directorate, then there is no need for a further badge to be produced.

7. Temporary staff and visitors

All temporary staff will be issued with an ID badge stating the expiry of the badge. All visitors to the hospital, which may include representatives for pharmacy, pathology or estates departments or contractors will also require a visitors' badge which will have ID numbers and expiry dates. The visitor will be required to report to the estates department to be issued with a visitor/contractor badge before going to the department they are meeting.

8. Member of staff leaving employment

When a member of staff leaves employment a part of the leaving procedure will be for them to hand their badge into their line manager who will securely destroy the badge and email Identity Services at kgh-tr.idbadges@nhs.net who will remove their access record from the system.

9. Loss of Badge

If a member of staff loses a badge, they must immediately inform the Identity Services team on extension 2720 to arrange for the card to be suspended another ID badge to be issued. They will be requested to pay the cost of replacing the badge a receipt from the cashiers' office must be produced.

10. Wearing an ID Badge

If, at any time, a member of staff is asked for their ID badge and cannot present one, they may not be granted admission or permission to work in that area. It is a disciplinary offence not to wear an ID badge.
